Wahkohtowin Week at École Deer Meadow School

Wahkohtowin is a Cree word describing the interconnectedness of relationships, communities and nature. Students and staff at École Deer Meadow in Olds spent the week before Spring Break immersed in Indigenous culture - from learning traditional crafts and dance to gaining a deeper understanding through Elders. The week was made possible by the passion and leadership of Tracy Laut (Deer Meadow Indigenous Lead and Family School Wellness) and Patrick Mitsuing (Indigenous Learning Coordinator), and by financial support from CARC (Central Alberta Regional Consortium). Special thanks to student Rachel Mosure for helping to capture such great photos!

'Volunteering is Empathy in Action' - April 24-30 is Volunteer Appreciation Week!
April 27 is Administrative Professionals' Day - thank you for all you do!
